AGEOPS Development Directorate is glad to announce the launch of new AGEOPS module Afghanistan Public Procurement Legacy System (APPLeS). This module replaces the previous system of tender publishing, notices and has all the features of the old system, but with additional functions and user friendly interface.

The following changes are applied:

1.Use of new technologies.

2.New and user friendly design.

3.Add a search section with more titles.

4.Add a profile section

5.change Password

This system will be launched in two stages.

1.The test phase (At this stage the demo system will be shared with respected entities and users so that they can use the system for a trial period, get to know the system and share any problems with us if occured. The link for the new demo system is stated below and also added in the old system's page).

APPLeS demo link: https://apples-demo.ageops.net

2.The final stage (At the final stage the system will be launched after the full review of the system and the complete transfer of all information from the previous system. Upon final launch of the new system the old system will be deactivated and all users will be notified well in advance through social media, NPA website and e-mail.

Regards